It's a survival game which uses Human Body as a form to kill the enemies. There are 7 modes of TriangleWing including the attack mode, recovery/heal mode, dodging mode, etc. The enemies in each level will attack you. When you fall into their range, they will hit you and even use lasers. Your main job is to dodge their attacks. When you dodge successfully, you will get a score. The score will add to your energy. You can recover your energy or reset your energy when you hit the red slot or when you jump back. So it's important to dodge the attacks and to make sure you are not hit by enemies. Tricks/Tips: The red slot in your screen represents your energy. When you are not attacking for a certain period of time, it will automatically go into the red slot. You can use this special power to dodge any enemy and also shoot their armor. You can recover your energy within 5-7 seconds and reset your energy within 3-5 seconds. You can easily win by using this trick. But it's also fatal to fail the energy recovery animation, so you have to pay more attention. You can switch to different modes easily. Tap Triangle to switch to a mode. When you are in the mode, you can use special energy and your energy will convert into the special energy. You can also use special energy to do special things, like fire lasers that ignore armor, dodge or do switching. How To Play: 1) Tap the screen to control it. 2) Tap Triangle to switch modes. 3) Shoot bullets by tapping the screen and hit enemy's armor by tapping them. 4) Defeat the enemies and the boss will appear. 5) You need to beat the boss 3 times in a row to be able to fight the boss of the next stage. 6) The boss in each stage has a unique style and appearance. You can beat the mission easily by using this trick. How to Play: 1) Tap Triangle to switch modes 2) Shoot bullets when you are in a certain mode 3) Hit enemy's armor to get score. 4) The enemies will attack you. 5) If you get hit, you will lose health. On this GameSpot, Julian Love is back to re-tell the history of the Traveller's Tales' grand journey through Rome. We are very happy to welcome him to Patrician IV. Julian Love is the GameSpot Editor-In-Chief. In addition to his position at GameSpot, Julian is also Senior Producer at Traveller's Tales. In the nine years since he joined the company, he's held various roles including designing a number of highly acclaimed franchises such as the L.A. Noire series and the Beyond Good & Evil and Brothers in Arms series of games, which have been published by many different companies. We wish you to be our guest on this episode of Patrician IV, where you will hear the main protagonists of a lot of our game's stories. The first of the three "reveals" is a game which has been at the forefront of the interactive entertainment industry for years. Without further ado, I give you Rock Band. ROCK BAND WHAT IS IT? Rock Band is a videogame series where you play the role of a guitar player who sings, plays, dances and well, rocks out. Players, under the hood, can plug any instrument they want into the game, from your regular old guitar, to a Guitar Hero or your Nintendo Gamecube's internal guitar, to the latest and greatest Guitar Hero axe. The goal is to develop a high-energy and high-spirited rock-tastic game that includes songs from a wide variety of genres, including punk, alternative rock, and pop, among many others. The series started on PlayStation 2 and PC and since then has made its way to every major gaming platform. Rock Band has sold more than 5 million units, making it the highest selling music videogame series. The success of the series has been monumental, giving birth to a number of high-selling music/guitar controller peripherals and a number of music-related videogames, including the Guitar Hero games, which are part of the Rock Band series. Rock Band is a music series, and a music game. It started on the PlayStation 2, but since then has been available on PlayStation 3, PlayStation 4, Xbox 360, Xbox One, Nintendo Gamecube, and Microsoft Windows. In its infancy, Rock Band was considered the must have music game for every kid, as many of them owned a guitar or already played a song in guitar. The series first sold over five million units in 2005

What's new in TRIM:

(DVD) It's a new musical adventure for Mark and Nya, a canine duo I'd followed for years on Facebook and Twitter, even though I knew them only as "Mark and Nya". Entirely inspired and equally scripted by Don Foster, a writer and gardener from Kitchener Ont., who narrated and produced their animated nya soundtracks in their respective screenplays, this once-in-a-lifetime pet-novella is perfectly pitched for both dogs and their furry fans, and especially for breeders. Entitled "Furry Woof and Nya Soundtrack," Foster's video-animals was designed with all the canines' needs in mind, and the result is a cinematic-quality recording, the absolute best of their feline and canine canine co-stars. I've never known a cat or dog that "acted", but even by the standards of many of the bloggers of our craft, Mark and Nya reek of authentic lives lived in full for these remarkable animals. Their "intended relationship" made all the difference in this creation: without a doubt, the friendship developed (and this writer testifies to it, as their owners adopted me to become their adopted brother, and his/her husband, of sorts), which then grew into a unique bond of estrangement. It's a template for all of life's simultaneous bonds and estrangements, and I always buy for every lib-er-ty whiny feminist spewer I encounter that purpose did this. Not to do this, but rather to release the animals' spirits into the craft that others may benefit. It's become a new reality for this librarian as a result. Don Foster's videos are no joke! It's taken months to edit the pages of photos and hours of each animals' vocal introduction onto a "barcode"-style DVD disc. All of it goes: heart, care, love, nurturing, fatherly protection, and a sense of humor. As proud gestalt creatures, I began to "read" the paeans to their relationships as romance. The DVD is divided into three sections, one for each dog. (I'll be getting comments about the ratings of this peculiar "genre," let me remind you, I'm
